Sweet Cypress Ranch's Twins Doing Great!

The twins are now 8 weeks old and thriving.
Will who was born at 80 pounds now weighs 180 lbs.
He is a normal stud colt full of himself . Grace was born at 55 lbs and now weighs 140 lbs. She has undergone surgery on her right leg to alter the growth pace in her growth plate. In just two weeks there is an amazing difference. She also wears a glue on orthopedic shoe that gives the knee extra support. Her left leg did 4 weeks in a hard cast and is now in a soft cast. It is straight and will be ready to function on it's own soon.

The screws in her right leg will come back out in a few weeks. This procedure is common to foals who suffer from “windswept” condition at birth. This is caused by lack of space or poor positioning in the mare prior to birth. Dr Ben Schachter at Wellington Equine has monitored her closely and brought her a long way in just 6 weeks of care. He believes that she has a strong chance to be normal and have a future like any other foal, and we couldn't agree more. Grace has the heart of a lion and the gentleness of a lamb.

There are hundreds of supporters and well wishers that are checking in to our website often to follow her progress, and Will too... We feel so lucky to have this rare opportunity in our lives to see God's Grace.

Feel free to call and come for a visit to see them. Call Jo at 863-673-6751.

To follow the twin's progress and see updated photos go to www.sweetcypressranch.com.

Will, Grace, and Sue on one of their many trips to Wellington Equine.

Rescued Horses in need!

Currently we are housing 4 horses.
Levi is pictured here. He is in very poor condition. He will be with us for about 3 months before he gains enough weight to be placed for adoption, so we need your support for Levi. Aron is ready for a new home.
His adoption donation is $150.00. He is a super-sweet boy who loves to be nosey and "help" you do stuff around the yard. He is a Pasture-mate only. He is not able to be ridden due to the extensive damage to his ligaments. Samson is in a foster home where he may be adopted. Wish him luck! Angel is a Thoroughbred mare, about 7 years old. She is gaining weight pretty well, however, she will be with us for another 2 or 3 months recovering from her neglect. Please donate. All donations are tax-deductable and used solely for the horses. Please, any amount of money you can afford is desperately needed and deeply appreciated.

I LOVE PONIES!

Dust Control

One of the most frequent complaints from neighbors of horse facilities is that of dust pollution. It is vital to develop and implement a dust control program that will result in a healthier environment for those at the facility and the surrounding area. Excessive dust is unhealthy for horses, riders, farm workers, visitors, and the neighbors. Dust consists of dry, solid particulate matter, less than 0.0625 millimeters (1/400 inch) in size. Most dust is mineral material that comes from bare soil arenas and vehicle roadways/lots and dry, decaying organic materials such as shavings, wood chips, and manure. Dust is dispersed through the wind. As the particles dry out, the wind repeatedly picks up, carries and deposits the fine particles. However, the heavier particles initially picked up by the wind tend to settle more rapidly. The sources of dust on horse farms include driveways, parking areas, dry lots, training tracks, riding arenas, exercise lots, and round pens. The more traffic (number of horses using the arena) and the larger the arena size, the more severe the problem will be. Round pens and small exercise areas are prone to a high incidence of severe dust problems due to excessive use in a restricted area, resulting in rapid material breakdown. The potential for generating an excessive amount of dust from these high-use sites is a result of using footing materials that:

- Contain a high percent of fine and very fine sand, plus silt and clay
- Break down easily, e.g. wood shavings/chips, or substances that have a mineral composition that is softer and less tolerant to abrasion
- Have low water/moisture retention properties or are water resistant

Dust Control Products

Dust control products are available, but need to be used judiciously to prevent buildup and possible contamination of water sources. These additives work by increasing moisture retention and causing footing materials to bind together. Extra care needs to be taken to monitor horses exercised in areas treated with dust control additives, as some of these products may cause dermatological reactions, especially on the legs of sensitive horses. A common practice of thoroughly washing the horse's legs after use should be incorporated into the horse's daily routine. The list below contains some, but not all, of the acceptable dust control products that may be used on commercial horse farms. The negative as well as the positive features are provided for each product.

- Calcium chloride is generally considered to be a non-toxic product, but may have a toxic effect on some plants, and is corrosive on equipment and metal buildings. Arena areas/driveways and parking lots with a high concentration of calcium chloride may become slick when wet. Care should be taken to prevent contact with skin and eyes. Horses' legs should be washed after use in areas treated with this product.

- Magnesium chloride has the same attributes as calcium chloride, but is slightly less corrosive.

- Lignosulfanates, a by-product of the wood-pulp industry, can have a toxic effect on some species of fish, and has been known to cause skin and eye irritations. Footing surfaces may become hard and slick.

- Petroleum-based products may cause irritation/injury to skin and eyes.
- Polymers, originally designed to aid in water retention for the turf industry, are made of starch and retain moisture in footing materials. The product is applied as dry crystals, then turns into a gel which can become very slick. In cold climates the gel will turn into hard, frozen balls.
- Surfactants and enzymes are generally considered to be non-toxic, but may be irritating to the eyes and have a drying effect on the skin.
- Other oil products, such as soybean, coconut, palm and corn oil have been developed to aid in dust control and are environmentally friendly. Many of these oils need to be reapplied frequently, and cost becomes a limiting factor. Results vary with the type of footing.
- Water is the most commonly used measure for dust control, and is frequently the most economical and effective means of managing dust.

Waste oil was at one time considered to be an effective way to control dust. Time and research have shown that waste oil may contain carcinogenic substances. It is also a threat to waterways and the environment because of its heavy metal content, and is now regulated by the EPA. Applying waste oil as a dust control product is no longer acceptable. Water as a Dust Control Agent Water is probably the most frequently used and effective dust control and bonding agent in indoor and outdoor arenas. The frequency of watering will depend on weather conditions, the type of footing, and the amount of use the arena is receiving. A minimum of two inches of water penetration is necessary to be effective. There are numerous ways to implement an effective watering system. Sprinkler systems with a 30–50% overlap are effective in assuring that water is applied evenly to the entire surface. Sprinklers can be installed at ground level or on raised pipes around the perimeter. This type of system can be costly depending on size and is equally as costly to maintain. Sprinkler systems are only as effective as the maintenance they receive to stay optimally functional. Other methods of applying water include rolling, retracting irrigation units or systems mounted on trucks or trailers. Although time-intensive, hand held hoses are an effective means of applying water to an arena. Ideally, riding and training areas and driveways should be watered in the evening. In the evening, arena use and traffic is at a minimum allowing a deeper absorption of water through the footing materials. It is also more efficient and economical, since less water is lost due to wind and evaporation. Water may need to be applied at other times as well, if dust becomes a problem.

You Are A Horse Owner If...

By, Half Vast Connie

There are many clues to determine if somebody is a horse owner. Foremost on the list, is if the family car is a truck. Another good clue is that the home of a horse owner always has at least one horse-related item...a bridle, bag of feed, or a lead rope IN THE KITCHEN.

You own a horse if your returned checks from the bank each month contain several to the feed store and one to Winn Dixie! Wouldn't it be nice if the horses AND the owner both could eat in the same week?

There is a horse about if, the lint filter on the dryer is full of horse hair, the laundry room smells like a wet girth, and the dryer makes loud clanging noises with each revolution! The interior of the dryer will contain large dents from the hardware on halters and girths that have "taken a spin" within!

The yard of a horse owner always has one feed bucket and one or two horse pads drying on the fence! A shopping spree means going to the local tack store and NOT the mall!

You are an authentic horse lover if you prefer denim to silk... The lady's high heeled shoes in your closet are boots... your necklace has a horse head on it and your ring a horseshoe... Your nylon hosiery is boot socks!

Also, you may limp.

There is definitely a horse in your life if your parents send you a $25 check for Christmas and you buy a new manure fork!

If you own and love horses, you list them under the "assets" column in your life instead of under "liabilities", consider them a "credit" instead of a "debit", and always list them under "pleasure" instead of "work". "Poor" is an adjective that describes your bank account and "rich" reflects your sentiments and the "good" far outnumbers the "bad" just because you own a horse.

You're a horse owner if you smile a lot!

Last but not least, you are a true horse owner if you calculate all the expenditures of horse ownership, tack the I.O.U. in your horse's stall, saddle up, and gallop across a winding dusty trail in the woods with some of your best friends. When you return, you take a black marking pen and cross through the I.O.U. and write across it, "PAID IN FULL!"

A Happy Appy in the Meadow, By Elizabeth Halperin, age 8

Horse tales is an area where original, unpublished works by local writers and artists will be featured. If you have a short story, poem, work of art or anything that you've created and are interested in seeing in print, please submit to Everything Equine. Everything Equine provides this opportunity for children and adults alike to show their creative abilities and talents to the entire community. Please limit your submissions to horse related tales that coincide with an equestrian or farm oriented way of life.

Horseback Safaris

Horseback Safaris - Standard one-hour, two-hour, or three-hour horseback safaris are available daily. Horseback Safaris can be arranged for riders with varying levels of experience. All guests should be at least 12 years of age; 10 years of age is an acceptable age with proven riding experience. Guests weighing more than 275 pounds will need to be assessed by our Equestrian Director before they are allowed to take a Horseback Safari. Call-in reservations are recommended in order to assure that we and our horses are ready for you.

A favorite with visitors is our two-night "Crescent J Cattle Drive Weekend Safari," which includes some training in Florida Cowhunter skills of ridin', ropin' and cow cuttin'. (Florida cattlemen weren't "cowboys" because hunting those wild Spanish-descent cattle in Florida's woods and swamps was a man's job, they said.) Choice of campground depends on weather, type of group and recommendation of the riding instructors.

Another favorite is similar, but shorter - an Overnight Trail Ride Safari combined with a next-day "Rawhide Roundup." More time is spent riding the wilderness trails of Forever Florida and learning about nature, less on cowpoke skills.

Corporate Co-workers, Schoolteachers, Professional Club, Flying Clubs, School Groups, Church Groups, Families, Friends, Scout troops or multi-troop Camporees - there are activities and a campground on Forever Florida or the Crescent J Ranch that are just right for a bonding experience. See the Facilities and Events page for more details.

From a small primitive one-troop Scout Camp on the Crescent J that has been used by Girl and Boy Scouts for more than 30 years, we expanded to a remote but up-scale campground 'way back in the wilderness of Forever Florida, then added two campgrounds in between and most recently, a large area "up front" (near the highway) that comfortably holds up to twenty Scout troops for a big Camporee.

Variations on these basic campouts and safaris can be worked out with our staff.

*7,000 mg or more of Methionine (in a 1,000 lb. horse) can block or inhibit the body's ability to use copper if given at that dosage for more than 30 days.

Manganese (Amino Acid Chelate), the most bioavailable form of Manganese. Check if your hoof supplement is using this form.

Glucosamine HCl has been proven to be less bioavailable than Glucosamine Sulphate 2KCl, with significantly lower absorption. See Web site for more info.
