Jockey

Sex: Male
Age: 9 years
Breed: German Shepherd
Color: Black & Tan
Hello, I am a savvy senior with pep in my step! I am a big cuddly bear that likes to chill out with humans and my peers. I am an older fella, but have lots of spunk still in me that I would like to share with a family of my own. I am intelligent, and easy going. I am absolutely gorgeous (as everyone keeps saying!) and am unbelievably charming.

Panda

Sex: Female
Age: 1 year
Breed: Domestic Short Hair
Panda is a pleasurable, and delightful kitty. She enjoys play time with her feline companions, and adores children. She is curious, and lovable. Panda is an extrovert and enjoys attention.

She is a true treasure! She isn't declawed, but is well mannered and doesn't scratch anything she isn't supposed to. Panda is current on vaccinations, and she is spayed.

Jade can't understand why no one has adopted her (and neither can we)! Everyone tells her that she is a wonderful cat. She is such a lover and always ready to accept attention. She also loves to play and is very comical. She has the most beautiful markings. She is about two years old and spayed.

She only wants to find a loving home where she can trust her new family and know she is safe, and in return will shower love on them. She has had some scary experiences in the past and the only thing she asks for is to be the only pet in a household. Jade came to us just as Hurricane Wilma was about to come ashore. She was very scared and nervous but it did not take very long until she came out of her shell and began to be happy again. Won't you be the special person on which Jade can count?

To adopt an animal from us, you must complete an adoption application and be approved. The adoption fee is $55.00 for cats and kittens. All animals available for adoption are spayed/neutered and up-to-date on all vaccinations.

To meet Jade, please call us at 450-6301 or go to collierrescue.com.

The Lessons of Hurricane Andrew

The leading causes of death in large animals were:

1. Collapsed barns - owners thought their animals were safer inside.
2. Kidney failure due to dehydration - wandering animals were deprived of food and water for days.
3. Electrocution - horses seek the lowest areas; in many cases this was a drainage ditch. Power lines over drainage ditches were blown down during the storm.
4. Fencing failure - wandering animals, unharmed during the storm were entangled in barbed wire or hit and killed on the roadways after the storm.

Debris caused the most severe injuries . . . . .

1. Barbed wire entanglement and collapsing barns caused injuries resulting in euthanasia for many horses.
2. Infection was common in many lacerations and puncture wounds, as prompt wound treatment was impossible.
3. Don't keep your animals in the barn to prevent debris injury. Debris injuries were severe, but in many cases treatable. If your barn collapses -and there is no way to insure that it won't - large animals have no chance to save themselves and are likely to panic if they can't follow their instincts.

Test your knowledge of horse terms!

Down

1. (i) External features of the horse making up its conformation. (ii) in relations to coat color, the lower legs, mane and tail.
2. Strong but controlled forward movement in the horse (not to be confused with speed)
3. Term used to describe an horse that is not registered with any breed association.
4. Unit of measure used to describe a horse. One hand equals 4 inches, partial measurements being described as 14.1, 14.2, 14.3.
5. The paces at which horses move, usually the walk, trot, canter and gallop.
6. The slower form of the lateral pacing gait.
7. Triangular, rubber pad on the sole of the foot which acts as a shock absorber.
10. Conformation fault in which the neck appears to be "upside-down".
13. The metal pieces attached to the saddle by means of leather straps in which the rider places his feet. (A.K.A Stirrups)
14. Horse's doctor.
16. Free from injury or lameness.

17. Design of bit that acts of the corners or bars of the horse's mouth. May be jointed or straight, but does not have shanks and only uses one rein.
23. Term used by auctioneers and in sales ads to describe the white markings of a horse.
24. Traditional riding attire for sidesaddle riders.

Across

1. A small horse, standing 14.2 or less.
3. Mounted games, including bending poles, sack race, musical sacks and a variety of other games and races.
8. Moderate-speed gait in which the horse moves from one diagonal pair of legs to the other, with a period of suspension in between.
9. Term used to describe the arc a horse makes as it jumps a fence.
11. A faulty action, where the toe of the foreleg is thrown outward in a circular movement with each stride.

12. Allergic reaction characterized by bumps or weals on the skin. More properly called Urticaria.
15. Growth or tumor often seen in grey or white horses. May or may not be malignant.
18. Coat color in which white hairs are mixed with the base coat color.
19. Adjustable low wooden jumps used in the schooling of horse and rider.
20. In the horse's mouth, the fleshy area between the front and back teeth, where the bit rests.
21. Type of Western riding in which advanced movements such as spins and slides are executed in various patterns.
22. The bony part of the tail, from which the hair grows.
25. Horse that has been accustomed to the tack and the rider and has begun initial training.
26. English term for body color of white with black patches.

THE GYPSY VANNER

The Gypsy Vanner is a breed of horse that can be traced back 80 years to the United Kingdom and Ireland. A band of nomadic Gypsies decided to develop a horse that would meet a need they saw for a powerful and distinctive horse to pull their caravans. At the same time, the horse needed to be gentle and trustworthy, since it would essentially be a part of the family. Its docile nature is a result of necessity; gypsy horses have to be patient, gentle, and quiet in order to be safe for pulling caravans and carrying gypsy children, who often ride bareback.

The Gypsies reportedly valued horses as their most prized possessions, and when a horse was particularly good, they would say, "That's a vanner." Gypsy Vanners were developed from stock that included Friesian, Shire, Clydesdale and Dales pony.

The breed is relatively compact, averaging between 14.1 and 15.2 hands. the horses generally weigh between 1,100 and 1,700 pounds. They are noted for their broad chests and heavy hips complimented by a short neck and back. The Gypsies found them well suited for both harness use and bareback riding. Their athleticism and trainability make them ideal for anything from pleasure riding to dressage.

Gypsy Vanners have a sort of mystical appearance that is created by their flowing manes, tails, and "feathers" above their feet. They are most commonly found in black and white or brown and white.

Today, it is estimated that there are between two and three thousand Gypsy horses in the United Kingdom and Ireland. However, specifically-bred Gypsy Vanners number only in the hundreds. In the United States, that number drops dramatically.

Hurricane Tips from the Sunshine State Horse Council

Guidelines for Disaster Preparedness

The first step is to consider your own evacuation. If you live in a storm surge flood plain or a mobile home, you must evacuate. Flood plain maps are available from your county government. Whether or not you evacuate, you may want to consider evacuating horses if they are maintained in stables or small pastures in urban areas where they will be unable to avoid debris and collapsing buildings. If you decide you must evacuate ... DO NOT TRY TO EVACUATE WITH YOUR LIVESTOCK TRAILER UNLESS THERE IS SUFFICIENT TIME! If you cannot BE ON THE ROAD 72 HOURS BEFORE THE STORM IS DUE TO HIT, you could easily be caught in traffic and high winds. Traffic on the highways will be moving very slowly, if at all. A livestock trailer is a very unstable vehicle in high winds and high winds will arrive 8-10 hours before a storm.

REMEMBER, a fire engine, loaded with water - a very stable emergency vehicle - is considered "out of service" when sustained winds have reached 40 mph. Therefore, long distance evacuation is not recommended as the storm may move faster than you anticipate. Evacuating your animals out of the area may be too dangerous, but there are alternatives. MAKE PLANS NOW to move your animals to a safer area relatively near your home. Before hurricane season begins, make sure all animals have current immunizations and Coggins tests and take the necessary papers with you if you must evacuate. Locate a safer area within your county and make arrangements now to move your animals to this location - then assist the receiving property owner in developing a disaster plan! A WRITTEN DISASTER PLAN will help you and your animals survive.

Develop a Specific Disaster Plan for Your Country Property

Develop a Written Plan . . . . .

START WITH THE FARTHEST POINT OF YOUR PROPERTY AND MOVE IN TOWARD THE HOUSE, listing all the things that need to be done. When you write your plan, consider the following guidelines:

- Install a hand pump on your well NOW. You will never make a better investment.
- As you landscape your property, use native plants. Nature has evolved these species to weather hurricanes. They will be much less likely to uproot and become debris.
- THINK DEBRIS! Store and secure everything you can. Turn over and tie down picnic tables or anything else too big to store.

- Get mobile home tie downs to secure vehicles and trailers - in the middle of the largest open area away from trees and buildings.
- Your Family Disaster Supply Kit should include: flashlight, battery operated radio, extra batteries, fire extinguishers, chlorine bleach, blankets, clothing, ready to eat food, first aid supplies, water, prescription medicines, eyeglasses and cash.
- Have on hand a box packed with halters, leads, duct tape, tarps and plastic, fly spray and animal medical supplies including bandages and medicines. Store in water proof container and secure.
- Provide the safest storage possible for: several hurricane lamps, lamp oil or kerosene, matches, gasoline, chain saw, ladder, ax, shovel, pry bar, come along, metal cable, block and tackle, wire cutters, tool box and camping gear. ( Don't Bring Flammable materials into the house.)
- Keep 2 liter soda bottles filled with water in the freezer. They can be thawed in the refrigerator when electricity fails to help keep the refrigerator cold. They can be used as a source of water as they thaw.
- Well water will not become contaminated unless your well is submerged by flood waters. City water becomes contaminated because purification systems fail. To purify water, add 2 drops of chlorine bleach per quart and let stand for half hour.
- Fill any large vessels ( row boats, canoes, feed troughs, dumpsters, etc. ) with water. This may help to prevent them from becoming debris and provides a source of water for animals after the storm. Pool water and collected water should be kept chlorinated for human and animal consumption.
- Shut off main electrical breakers and close gas and water valves. Unplug appliances and turn off air conditioning.
- Chain your propane tank to the ground with tie down stacks and label it "propane". Label any hazardous material containers on your property.
- A two week supply of animal feed and medications should be brought in to the house and stored in waterproof containers.
- Photograph or video property and animals, and take film/tape with you if you must evacuate.

- Zip lock bags make good waterproof storage for photographs, important papers, etc.

DON'T GO OUT DURING THE STORM !!

If you are dead or injured, you can't help your animals.

THE SAFEST PLACE FOR LARGE ANIMALS TO WEATHER A STORM IS IN A LARGE PASTURE.

It should meet as many of the following guidelines as possible:

- It should be free of exotic trees.
- It should have no overhead power lines.
- It should be well away from areas that might generate wind driven debris.
- It should have both low areas that animals can shelter in during the storm (preferably a pond), and higher areas that will not be flooded after the storm.
- It should have woven wire fencing.

LONG RANGE DISASTER PLANNING

Fencing . . . . .

- The clear winner is woven wire. It acts like a volleyball net; in some cases falling trees don't even break it down. It helps stop debris. It doesn't pull apart in high winds. Animals are less likely to get caught or tangled in it.
- Board fencing blows down and becomes debris. If you use it, back it with woven wire.
- Avoid using barbed wire. It cuts horses to ribbons and is easily torn down by flying debris.
- Lay out your fence lines to keep animals away from power lines.
- Each year in May, replace rotten fence posts and make fencing repairs so your fences are as strong as possible for the start of Hurricane Season on June 1.

Building Construction . . . . .

- Having a well built barn helps it from becoming debris. Never think it is safe enough to protect your animals.
- A simple, well strapped open pole barn with a flat roof or a hurricane reinforced concrete barn is least likely to blow down.
- Prefab trusses may not hold up. If you use them, make sure they have hurricane clips.
- Roofing material should be roll roofing or properly installed metal. Shingles and tile become small lethal weapons which pastured animals cannot avoid. Large sheets of anything are more easily avoided by animals.
- Consider pre-fitted, properly anchored plywood or some form of hurricane shutters for all windows and doors. Roofs are torn off when wind enters a building. Taping only prevents flying glass.

When any Atlantic or Gulf of Mexico store is named, all Floridians should take it seriously, watch it closely and begin implementation of their pre-written Disaster PLANS.. Review and update your Disaster Plan with your family on a regular basis.

Horseback Safaris

Horseback Safaris - Standard one-hour, two-hour, or three-hour horseback safaris are available daily. Horseback Safaris can be arranged for riders with varying levels of experience. All guests should be at least 12 years of age; 10 years of age is an acceptable age with proven riding experience. Guests weighing more than 275 pounds will need to be assessed by our Equestrian Director before they are allowed to take a Horseback Safari. Call-in reservations are recommended in order to assure that we and our horses are ready for you.

A favorite with visitors is our two-night "Crescent J Cattle Drive Weekend Safari," which includes some training in Florida Cowhunter skills of ridin', ropin' and cow cuttin'. (Florida cattlemen weren't "cowboys" because hunting those wild Spanish-descent cattle in Florida's woods and swamps was a man's job, they said.) Choice of campground depends on weather, type of group and recommendation of the riding instructors.

Another favorite is similar, but shorter – an Overnight Trail Ride Safari combined with a next-day "Rawhide Roundup." More time is spent riding the wilderness trails of Forever Florida and learning about nature, less on cowpoke skills.

Corporate Co-workers, Schoolteachers, Professional Club, Flying Clubs, School Groups, Church Groups, Families, Friends, Scout troops or multi-troop Camporees – there are activities and a campground on Forever Florida or the Crescent J Ranch that are just right for a bonding experience. See the Facilities and Events page for more details.

From a small primitive one-troop Scout Camp on the Crescent J that has been used by Girl and Boy Scouts for more than 30 years, we expanded to a remote but up-scale campground 'way back in the wilderness of Forever Florida, then added two campgrounds in between and most recently, a large area "up front" (near the highway) that comfortably holds up to twenty Scout troops for a big Camporee.

Variations on these basic campouts and safaris can be worked out with our staff.

A Picture Story, by Elizabeth Halperin, age 6.

(The horse is jumping in the show. He is the best. He finished in 1st place. The saddle is clean. He is the best horse in the world.)

Horse tales is an area where original, unpublished works by local writers and artists will be featured. If you have a short story, poem, work of art or anything that you've created and are interested in seeing in print, please submit to Everything Equine. Everything Equine and local businesses provide this opportunity for children and adults alike to show their creative abilities and talents to the entire community. Please limit your submissions to horse related tales that coincide with an equestrian or farm oriented way of life.

A Harrowing Experience Turned Good

This is a little “tail” about always being safe when you are around horses.

I would like to share something that happened to me so it won't happen to you. A friend with plenty of experience in transporting and loading horses and I were attempting to load and deliver a horse that I had been boarding for another friend. After several hours and a sweaty nervous horse, we got him loaded in the trailer. Until.. the unthinkable happened. I was behind the trailer door waiting for my friend to come out so I could shut the door and we could be on our way. The horse was loose in the trailer, and it was getting dark so he didn't know the door was shut and barreled out the back, slamming the door into my face, knocking me to the ground, and to make matters worse, stomping all over me. Imagine a 1,100 lb blonde stepping all over you. My poor fiancé saw the whole thing as it happened and my friend got to see me get stomped. After a long night in the ER and 7 stitches in my lip (did I mention a missing front tooth?) I decided I would let someone else deal with this horse. He does not like trailers and I was in no condition to attempt this again.

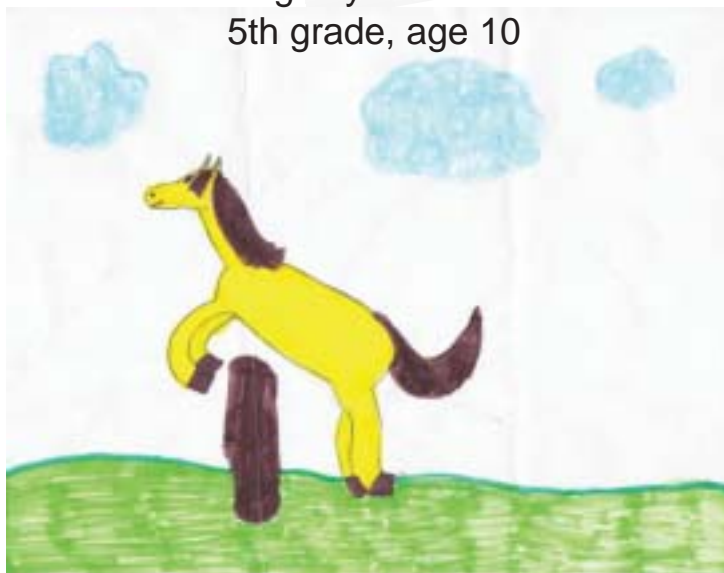

I was at the store and saw Claire from Cloud9 Ranch and told her what happened, and she was more than willing to help with her skills. She came over the next day and got the horse to a comfortable level in the trailer, and decided to come back the next day with her sister Nancy Faulconer who I have known and respected for close to 7 years now. I got a call from Nancy the same day letting me know they would be over around 4pm that afternoon to work with him and possibly have him relaxed enough to deliver him to his new barn. I am happy to say that Buddy is in his new home and rode in the trailer like a champ. I was amazed at how he “hopped” right in after a few sessions. A lot of people don't believe in natural horsemanship, but I look in the mirror and I'm the one with a split lip and a missing tooth. SAFETY is the key here. My many, many thanks go to Nancy and Claire for all they did for me in my time of need, and for the many other things that they have done for me in the past. I'm the kind of person that doesn't want to bother anyone so I try to do things myself. I have learned to rethink things for the future so this never happens to me again. I'm lucky to be alive. Cathie B.

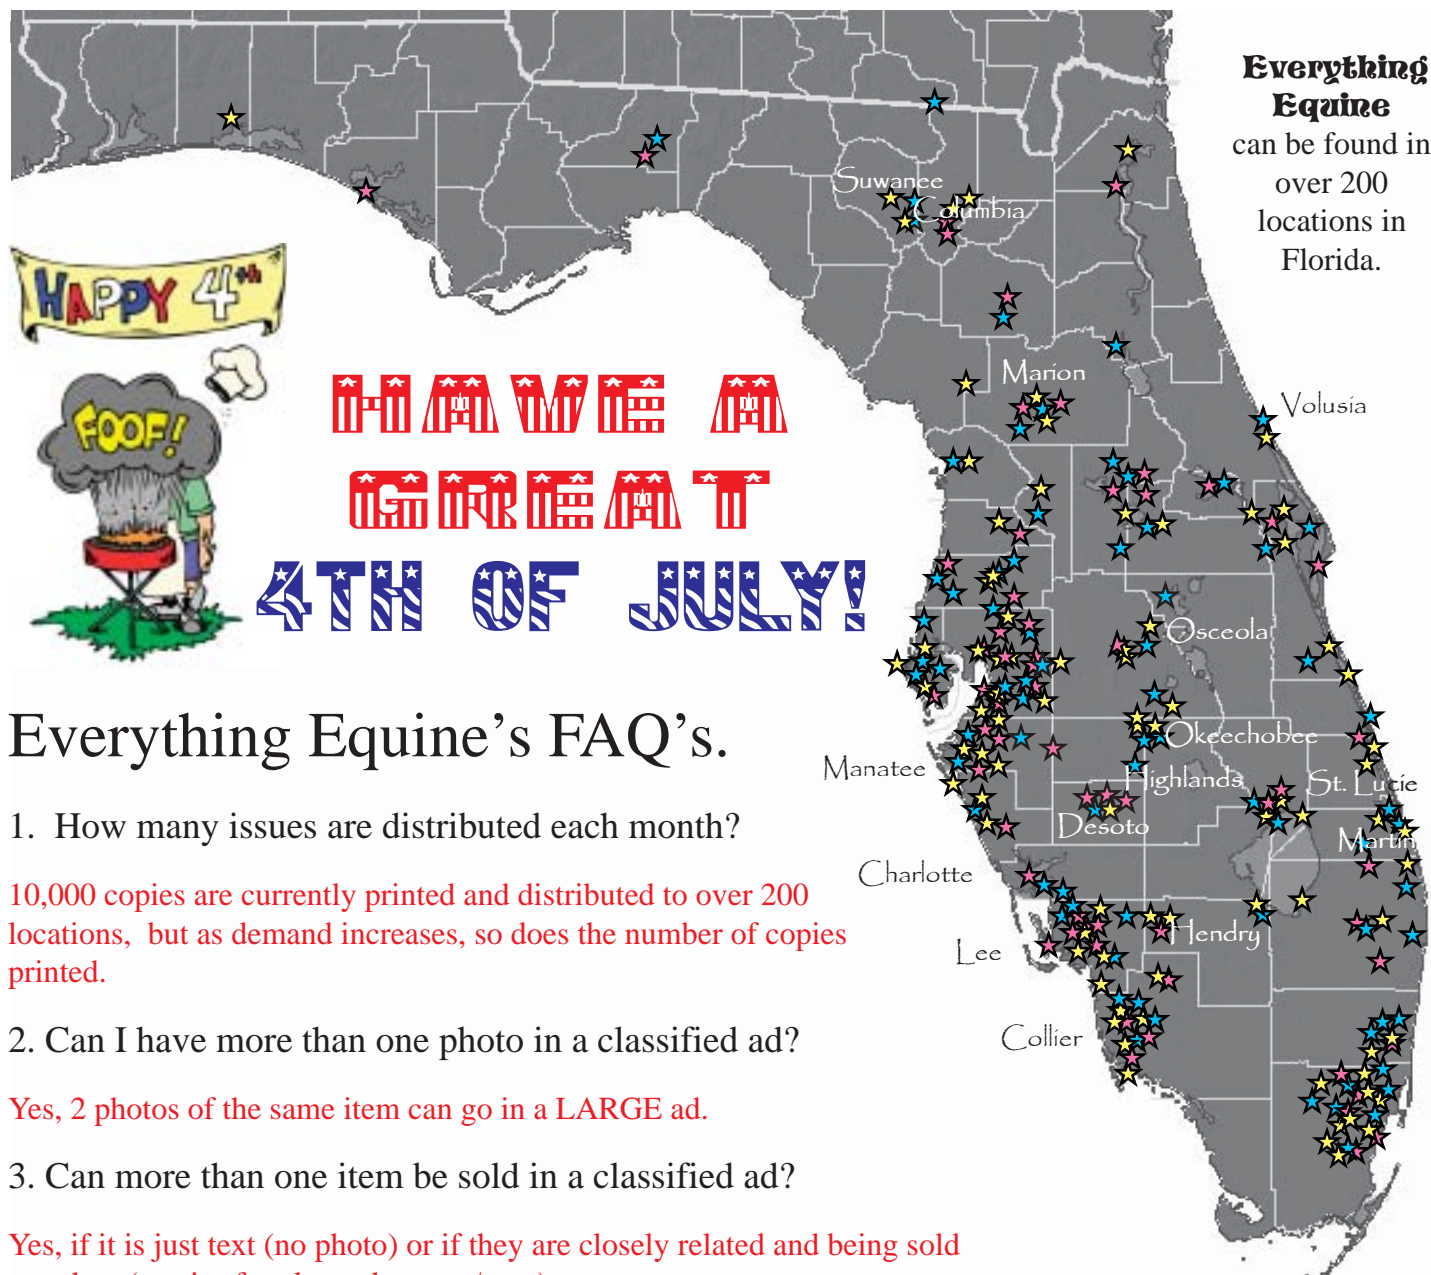

I knew it was going to be something good when a thick envelope arrived with a sketch of a horse head next to my address on the front and “HORSES ROCK” written on the back.... and I was right. Of course, what would one expect in a letter mailed from Niceville? Thank you, Sierra, for your kind words. ~Melody

Everything Equine's FAQ's.

1. How many issues are distributed each month?

10,000 copies are currently printed and distributed to over 200 locations, but as demand increases, so does the number of copies printed.

2. Can I have more than one photo in a classified ad?

Yes, 2 photos of the same item can go in a LARGE ad.

3. Can more than one item be sold in a classified ad?

Yes, if it is just text (no photo) or if they are closely related and being sold together. (a pair of mules or horse w/ cart)

4. What is the difference between a classified and business ad?

Classified ads are to sell a single item. They may not list any business information including business names and web addresses. Services, such as stud or farrier, fall into the business category.

5. I wrote an article, can it be published?

Yes, factual articles intended to educate the reader may be published, space permitting, free of charge as long as they do not promote a business. Please cite your sources when submitting an article for publication. Everything Equine reserves the right to edit submissions. If your article promotes a business, then it qualifies as advertisement and business rates would apply.

6. I would like to share something that happened to me. Is there a place for that?

Yes, Horse Tales is a place to share your experiences, poems, drawings and whatever else you would like to share. A good rule of thumb for a proper submission for Horse Tales is to keep it in 1st person. Write using, I, me, we, not he, she or they.
