163 Horses Rescued from Slaughter Auction

Pure Thoughts Inc.
Horse & Foal Rescue
www.PTHR.org
561-753-6555 - 561-254-0415

On May 23rd, 2008 Pure Thoughts Inc. aligned with the Davis McCullough Foundation and saved every horse that was intended to go to slaughter from the Sugarcreek kill auction in Ohio. Not only were the horses that day saved but the horses that were from the previous week that were still at the auction waiting for a full load to go to slaughter were also saved. It was one day that all horses at Sugarcreek were "safe" everything from babies, mares & foal to thoroughbred, drafts, ponies all shapes and sizes.

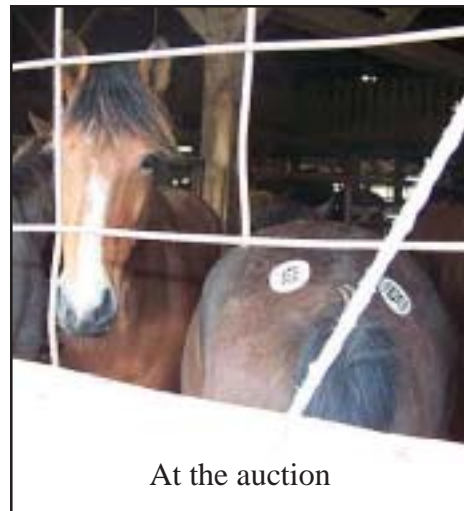

Some are in excellent condition and some of in need of major rehab.

If anyone can help in any way we can show the country that this community. A family of horse lovers will not tolerate slaughter and the cruel and inhumane treatment that goes along with it, from the minute they are dropped off at auction.

You can help by donating, sponsoring, adopting or volunteer. There are many ways to help.

The horses and the humans of Pure Thoughts Inc., Horse & Foal Rescue thank you.

At the auction

FIREWORK SAFETY TIPS FOR YOUR FOUR-LEGGED FAMILY

DOGS and CATS

ALWAYS- keep dogs and cats inside when fireworks are being let off.

ALWAYS- close all windows and doors, and block off cat flaps to stop pets escaping and to keep noise to a minimum. Draw the curtains, and if the animals are used to the particular sounds of TV or radio, switch them on but not too loudly in order to block out some of the noise of the fireworks.

ALWAYS- make sure your pet is wearing some form of easily readable identification (ID) - even in the house. By law, they should have at least a collar and tag, but think about fitting them with a microchip, so that if they do run away they have a better chance of being returned to you.

NEVER- take your dog to a firework display. Even if your dog does not bark or whimper at fireworks it doesn't mean he's happy. Excessive panting and yawning can sometimes indicate that your dog is stressed.

NEVER- tie your dog up outside while fireworks are being let off, i.e. outside a shop whilst you pop inside, or leave them in the garden or in your car.

NEVER- walk your dog while fireworks are going off. Make sure your dog is walked earlier in the day before the fireworks start.

NEVER- shout at your pet if it is frightened, as you will only make it more stressed.

You Can Help By

Preparing a 'den' for your pet so it can feel comfortable, perhaps under a bed with some of your old clothes where it can hide when the fireworks start.

If your pet does pace around, whines or meows and tries to hide in a corner, leave it alone and do not try to coax it out. It is just trying to find safety and should not be disturbed.

Trying not to leave your pet alone during such potentially upsetting events

Staying calm and acting normally. Praise your pet when it is calm.

If you leave your pet alone and come back to find that it has been destructive, do not shout or get angry.

Small Animals

Rabbits, guinea pigs, hamsters, gerbils, mice, ferrets and birds all need to be treated with special care when fireworks are being let off. These animals are easily frightened. The Blue Cross advises that owners of such types of small animal should follow these precautions.

Hutches/cages and enclosures should, if possible, be brought into a quiet room indoors, or into a garage or shed

Give your pet extra bedding to burrow into so it feels safe

If you cannot bring your pet's hutch inside, you should turn its enclosure around so that it faces a wall or fence instead of the open garden

Cover any aviaries or hutches with thick blankets or a duvet to block out the sight of the fireworks and deaden the sound of the bangs, but make sure there is enough ventilation

Horses and Ponies

Fireworks must not be set off near livestock or horses in fields or close to buildings. Anyone planning a firework display in a rural area should warn neighboring farmers in advance.

Try to make sure that fireworks are never set off near your horse's field or stable. Wherever possible tell neighbors and local fireworks display organizers that there are horses nearby so that they can ensure fireworks are set off in the opposite direction and well away from them.

Unfortunately we are often not forewarned about private fireworks displays so think and plan ahead for 4th of July and New Year's Eve. Be proactive about finding out when other celebratory occasions involving fireworks might occur.

It is sensible to keep your horse in its familiar environment, in its normal routine with any companions to make it feel secure. If your horse is usually stabled then keep it stabled. If it is normally out in the field, keep it there as long as it is safe, secure and not near the fireworks display area.

Ensure that you or someone experienced stays with your horse if you know that fireworks are being set off. This way you can observe its behaviour, ensure that it remains as safe and calm as possible and respond to its reactions appropriately.

If you know your horse reacts badly to loud noises or unusual circumstances speak to your vet or perhaps consider moving your horse for the night.

Try to remain calm and positive as horses can sense unease in a person and this might make things worse if the horse is startled.

Be careful yourself. Try not to get in the way if your horse becomes startled as you may get hurt.

Don't take the risk of riding when you think fireworks might be set off.

If it is absolutely necessary for you to leave your horse in the care of another person during a fireworks show, then ensure that you leave clear instructions and contact details for yourself and your vet should any problems arise.

Spanish Proverb

Find the word HORSE 28 times.

Words can go horizontally, vertically, and diagonally. They can go in all eight directions.

The unused letters will spell out a Spanish proverb.

Will feeding supplemental fat to a horse who is an easy keeper have a calming effect?

I have a young Arabian/Paint who is a very easy keeper. He gets adequate grazing time and medium-quality grass hay in addition to 1.5 lbs. of a "lite" pelleted grain daily. I have read that the fats such as corn oil can have a calming effect on horses. I have tried adding one cup to his feed daily for 3 weeks, and so far I see no difference. How much oil can I add to the feed without doing harm to an "easy keeper" horse that weighs about 850 lbs? His "lite" feed is basically given to insure that he is getting his needed vitamins and minerals without adding extra carbohydrates.

Additional fat will only help horses that need to put on weight. Most easy keepers should not get additional fat in the diet if they have a body condition score above 6-7 (I'm just guessing, but I thought a specific range might be helpful). You can feed a 1000 lb horse up to 2 cups of fat (oil) per day. However, I would not recommend this for your horse, because it sounds like he does not need any additional calorie load. Typically, when horses have problems with their energy level and are slightly overweight, they are taking in too much sugar/starch in their meals. The "lite" feed you are giving him is a good food source, because its higher fiber content will dilute out the extra energy he might be getting from other carbohydrate sources.

I hate to say it, but some horses that have extra energy may just need to be exercised more to utilize extra calories. Some horses will not respond to changes in feed, others might respond to a calming supplement with extra B-vitamins and amino acids. No research has ever been done on these products to prove if they are effective, but they may work on a case-by-case basis. There is more information on these supplements at http://www.esc.rutgers.edu/ask\_expert/ate\_nuts.htm#hcs

For your horse, I would recommend discontinuing the corn oil as it may be providing too much energy. Energy from fat will burn slower than that from carbohydrates. This does cause a calming effect, but due to fat's additional calories this approach might not be appropriate for your horse or any easy keepers. Try increasing his exercise intensity. If this does not work, try a calming product. His high energy may just be his natural behavior. Sometimes an immediate solution is not evident, but over time, a long-term training solution may prove helpful as the horse gets older.

Blond Moments

Half Vast Connie

The following has made the rounds on the internet. It is not my own personal story although I do frequently have "blond moments".

A blonde decides to learn and try horse back riding unassisted without prior experience or lessons. She mounts the horse with great effort, and the tall, shiny horse springs into motion. It gallops along at a steady and rhythmic pace, but the blonde begins to slip from the saddle.

Out of sheer terror, she grabs for the horse's mane, but cannot seem to get a firm grip. She tries to throw her arms around the horse's neck, but she slides down the side of the horse anyway. The horse gallops along, seemingly oblivious to its slipping rider.

Finally, giving up her frail grip, she leaps away from the horse to try and throw herself to safety. Unfortunately, her foot has become entangled in the stirrup. She is now at the mercy of the horse's pounding hooves as her head is struck against the ground again and again.

As her head is battered against the ground, she is mere moments away from unconsciousness or even death when Frank, the Wal-Mart manager runs out to shut off the horse.

Blond Moments. We all have them, no one is exempt! We have them so we might learn to laugh at ourselves. Half Vast Connie

A Horse Named Tonto

by Cookie K. Max

I begged her to take a look.

It was amazing how much it took.

To get her to lay eyes onto,

That beautiful boy called, Tonto.

He is black and white, marked like you've never seen,

Only could you visualize in a dream.

If you didn't know for sure,

You would think someone took a brush and went obscure.

He has 4 white feet, none the same,

So different, you could give each one a name.

Outstanding ears, always erect,

His two toned mane hanging on his neck.

Part on one side, some on another,

A white snip nose that he got from his mother.

A black and white tail, long and pristine,

A wide shoulder stripe that goes near to the knee.

In a parade he truly stands out,

As he passes by, people shout.

He is definitely a showstopper,

And his owner is the topper.

Now I said all that, just to say this,

Only the Lord could give one so much bliss.

The Creator of this one, He gave you,

Consider yourself special 'cuz God gave you the prize,

You can minister for Him while you ride.

Horseback Safaris

Horseback Safaris - Standard one-hour, two-hour, or three-hour horseback safaris are available daily. Horseback Safaris can be arranged for riders with varying levels of experience. All guests should be at least 12 years of age; 10 years of age is an acceptable age with proven riding experience. Guests weighing more than 275 pounds will need to be assessed by our Equestrian Director before they are allowed to take a Horseback Safari. Call-in reservations are recommended in order to assure that we and our horses are ready for you.

A favorite with visitors is our two-night "Crescent J Cattle Drive Weekend Safari," which includes some training in Florida Cowhunter skills of ridin', ropin' and cow cuttin'. (Florida cattlemen weren't "cowboys" because hunting those wild Spanish-descent cattle in Florida's woods and swamps was a man's job, they said.) Choice of campground depends on weather, type of group and recommendation of the riding instructors.

Another favorite is similar, but shorter – an Overnight Trail Ride Safari combined with a next-day "Rawhide Roundup." More time is spent riding the wilderness trails of Forever Florida and learning about nature, less on cowpoke skills.

Corporate Co-workers, Schoolteachers, Professional Club, Flying Clubs, School Groups, Church Groups, Families, Friends, Scout troops or multi-troop Camporees – there are activities and a campground on Forever Florida or the Crescent J Ranch that are just right for a bonding experience. See the Facilities and Events page for more details.

From a small primitive one-troop Scout Camp on the Crescent J that has been used by Girl and Boy Scouts for more than 30 years, we expanded to a remote but up-scale campground 'way back in the wilderness of Forever Florida, then added two campgrounds in between and most recently, a large area "up front" (near the highway) that comfortably holds up to twenty Scout troops for a big Camporee.

Variations on these basic campouts and safaris can be worked out with our staff.
